PRICE THREE CENTS

AGAIN

A Mad Mob Approaches London.

The Boisterous Crowd Smash Buildings and Wreck a Big Business Block.

An Immense Socialist Meeting Called for This Evening and now in Progress.

AT IT AGAIN.

Another Mob Marching on London.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Thus far to-day there has been no renewal of rioting, 2.30 p. m.—News has been received in the city that the mob of roughs which had assembled at Deptford, are marching towards the city, smashing windows and wrecking fronts of houses. 3.20 p. m.—The Deptford mob has reached Hope Exchange, in Southwark, nearly five miles from the starting point. The mob was enormously increased by constant accessions during the progress north. The destination seems to be Trafalgar square.

The police hold all bridge approaches and are preparing to resist an attack. The mob sacked the mammoth establishment of Wm. Iarn & Co. This building covers the ground from and including No. 5 to No. 21, on New Kent road, to 165 to 173, Newington Causeway, devoted to trade in linen, silk, men's and women's clothes, etc. The Lebt building was badly wrecked. All shops are being closed and barricaded everywhere throughout the city.

The Deptford mob has dispersed. The streets are thronged. No conflict with the authorities has yet occurred. A socialistic meeting is to be held this evening. Two and a-half hours before the time announced for the assemblage, over a thousand men were on the ground. The crowd is being constantly augmented by accessions from Trafalgar Square. A movement has been inaugurated to secure a meeting of all London members of the house of commons, to devise measures for the immediate relief of the distress in London.

WASHINGTON

Proceedings in Both Houses of Congress.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Among bills reported favorably from the committees and placed on the calendar, was one to authorize the secretary of the navy to fit out an expedition to observe the total eclipse of the sun on the 29th of August, 1886.

Among the bills indefinitely postponed was one allowing discharged officers of the army one year's pay and allowances.

HOUSE.

The speaker laid before the house the response of the secretary of the treasury upon the resolutions calling for information on questions arising under the tariff act of 1883. Referred.

A WHITE WOMAN

Shot by Her Colored Paramour.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 10.—Yesterday morning, Ettie Jones, once a beautiful woman, was shot by Al Williams, her colored lover. Williams and the woman lived together for a long time. She came here from Portsmouth, Ohio, about two years ago and says she is from a good family, having assumed the name of Jones out of respect for her family. Williams is in jail. The woman can live but a short time.

Nail Men in Convention.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 10.—The largest meeting of nail manufacturers held here for months is in session to-day. Every manufacturer west of the Allegheny mountains is represented either in person or by proxy.

The Coke Question.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., Feb. 10.—The coke region strike, it is thought, will now settle down to the mere question of endurance on both sides.

INDIANA EDITORS.

Who Believe Democrats Should Administer the Government.

The sixth annual convention of the Democratic Editorial Association of Indiana will convene at the Grand Hotel, at Indianapolis, at ten o'clock on the 25th of the present month. It will be remembered that this association met at Maxinkuckee last July, and adopted a series of strong democratic resolutions. The convention this year promises to be one of unusual importance, and more straight talk is looked for. The Indiana editors believe that the offices should be filled by democrats, and do not hesitate to say so. Addresses will be delivered by Col. J. B. Maynard, Col. I. B. McDonald, Hon. W. R. Myers, Hon. Will E. English, Hon. Robt. C. Bell, Hon. James P. Applegate, Hon. W. C. Ball, W. S. Ray, and others. Quite a time is expected.

AN EPIDEMIC OF RHYMING.

The society goes on famously. We have had a paper presented and read lately which has greatly amused some of us and provoked a few of the weaker sort. The writer is that crabbled old Professor of Belles-Lettres at that men's college over there. He is dreadfully hard on the poor "poets," as they call themselves. It seems that a great many young girls, of whom the Institute has furnished a considerable proportion, have taken to sending him their rhymed productions to be criticised—expecting to be praised, no doubt, every one of them. I must give you one of the spiciest extracts from his paper in his own words:

"It takes half my time to read the 'poems' sent me by young people of both sexes. They would be more shy of doing it if they knew that I recognize a tendency to rhyming as a common form of mental weakness, and the publication of a thin volume of verse as prima facie evidence of ambitious mediocrity, if not inferiority. Of course there are exceptions to this rule of judgment, but I maintain that the presumption is always against the rhymester as compared with the less pretentious persons about him or her, busy with some useful calling—too busy to be tagging rhymed common-places together. Just how there seems to be an epidemic of rhyming as bad as the dancing mania, or the sweating sickness. After reading a certain amount of manuscript verse one is disposed to anatomize the inventor of homophonous syllabification. [This phrase made a great laugh when it was read.] This, that is rhyming, must have been found out very early—

Where are you Adam?
Here am I, madam;

but it can never have been habitually practiced until after the fall. The intrusion of tinnitulating terminations of conversational intercourse of men and angels would have spoiled Paradise itself. Milton would not have them in "Paradise Lost," you remember. For my own part, I wish certain rhymes could be declared contraband of written or printed language. Nothing should be allowed to be hurled at the world or whirled with it, or furling upon it, or curled over it; all eyes should be kept away from the skies, in spite of os homini sublime dedit; youth should be coupled with all the virtues except truth; earth should never be reminded of her birth; death should never be allowed to stop mortal's breath, nor the bell to sound his knell, nor flowers from blossoming bowers to wave over his grave or show their bloom upon his tomb. We have rhyming dictionaries—let us have one from which all rhymes are rigorously excluded. The sight of a poor creature grubbing for rhymes to fill up his sonnet, or to cram one of those voracious, rhyme-swallowing rignaroles which some of our drudging poetical operatives have been exhausting themselves of late to satiate with jingles, makes my head ache and my stomach rebel. Work, work of some kind, is the business of men and women, not the making of jingles! No, no, no! I want to see the young people in our schools and academies and colleges, and the graduates of these institutions, lifted up out of the little Dismal Swamp of self-contemplating and self-indulging and self-commiserating emotionalism which is surfeiting the land with those literary sandwiches—thin slices of tinkling sentimentality between two covers looking like hard-baked gilt gingerbread. But what faces these young folks make up at my good advice! They get tipsy on their rhymes. Nothing intoxicates one like his—or her—own verses, and they hold on to their metre-ballad-mongering as the fellows that inhale nitrous oxide hold on to the gas-bag."—Oliver Wendell Holmes, in Atlantic.

There will be no matinee at the Academy to-morrow afternoon.

ABOUT HOME

And the Gossip of the Neighborhood.

Mr. Thomas M. Gruelle, has become the editor of the Indianapolis Labor Signal, succeeding Mr. John F. White.

There are ninety-two county superintendents in Indiana, and they cost the state $106,000 annually in round numbers, or even more than a million dollars every ten years.

Philip Metz, a well-known citizen of Wabash, died suddenly on Monday morning. His attendant had left the room for a moment, and on his return found Metz dead.

A detachment of the Salvation army, twenty strong, have taken possession of the little village of Sweetzer, south of Wabash. They are accompanied by drums and tamborines. Xenia will be the next place visited.

The signatures of thirty six prominent Kosciusko county farmers have been cut off from assessment blanks on file at the county auditor's office. The names are being utilized by the note-forgers who are infesting Kosciusko and Wabash counties.

Fire broke out in a poker room at Xenia, south of Wabash, and before the flames could be checked a row of wooden buildings were consumed, entailing a loss of $3,500. The buildings, owned by Perry Goodwin and Mrs. Eliza Brown, were insured for $1,000.

A Gatling gun belonging to the state, and valued at $1,000, which was stolen from the Richmond armory in July last, was found in a cellar in that city a few days ago. Quartermaster General Shepard was there at the time, prosecuting an investigation by the grand jury.

Religious revivals continue at Cambridge City, with over one hundred converts; at North Manchester, with nearly one hundred; at Elizabeth, Harrison county; Columbia City; Akron and Sweetzer, Wabash county. A Universalist revival is also in progress at Columbia City.

At the New Orleans exposition last week special examinations were made of the various educational exhibits, and the press of that city and the commissioners of the various states unite in the expressed opinion that the exhibit made by Indiana is by far the best and most creditable.

Never in the history of Warsaw have such vast quantities of ice been packed at that place. Every nook of the immense houses on the lakes there is filled and the congealed fluid promises to be a drug on the market. A leading dealer estimates the cut at Warsaw at nearly 100,000 tons—all of the first quality.

Hon. W. H. English says that he has never been a candidate for any office under the present administration, (reports to the contrary notwithstanding), that he is not seeking the position of comptroller of the currency, and does not expect to become a candidate. He admits that a seat in the United States senate would be to his liking, and he may therefore be considered "in the hands of his friends."

THE GERMAN RAILROAD.

They are making a great fuss about an engineer on a railroad in Germany who has run on the road forty-nine years and never had an accident. We don't see anything wonderful about it, says R. J. Burdette, in the Brooklyn Eagle. The engineer on a German railroad, we believe, always walks ahead of his train and shoos everything off the track while his wife follows the train along after him. Still, we can see how an accident might happen. The engineer might grow weary and climb on the train and go to sleep, and so get into the station ahead of time, and run the risk of catching a severe cold while waiting for the Esteamagewagonhaus (German for station agent) to open the Sweitrackagesteamerwagon (German for handsomely decorated round-house). Indeed, when you come to think over it seriously, the life of a German railroad engineer, after he has been in continuous service ninety years, and has lost his hair, teeth, sight, and hearing, and his sense of taste begins to fall, is envied by the peril.

The late Mr. J. B. Lippincott, of Philadelphia, is said to have been worth $20,000,000. He was one of the richest men in Philadelphia, and probably one of the fifty richest men in the United States, as it is doubtful if there are fifty men in the United States worth more than $20,000,000 each. His two sons succeed him in his publishing business.

A well known citizen of Wetherdville, Md., Mr. W. R. Graves, writes:—I suffer sometimes with acute rheumatism and your Salvation Oil gives me instantaneous relief, and I recommend it as a sure cure for this terrible disease.

FLED TO CANADA.

The Mayor of White House, Ohio, Absconds.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

CHICAGO, Ill. Feb. 10.—A special from White House, Ohio, says: "Mayor O. G. Wales has fled to Canada, because of irregularities in his business. Besides being agent of the Wabash railroad at this point, he had a pension agency. He recently procured a pension for a widow, amounting to $1,400, charged an illegal fee, and withheld part of the money."

A BAD BOY

Causes His Mother's Heart to Break.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Last night about midnight, Mrs. Kate Barker applied to the police for an officer to arrest her son, Paul, sixteen years old, who is in the habit of coming home late, intoxicated, and creating a disturbance. On the way back with an officer, the woman stopped suddenly and exclaimed: "Oh God! my heart is breaking!" and fell. She died on the way to the station. The son soon after was arrested and when he saw the dead body of his mother he said he had caused it all.

JOHN KELLY'S CONDITION.

The Victim of Dyspepsia—Morose, Moody and Irritable.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Mr. John Kelly is a victim of dyspepsia and catarrh. Usually cheerful and buoyant, he is now morose, moody and irritable. He sits and broods over his troubles, doesn't care to see his friends and lies awake and walks the floor at night. He is a sort of hypochondriac, and fancies that he is going to be ill a year longer. He was kept at the head of Tammany another year to prevent, or at least postpone, the fight of extermination between Lowe and Crocker.

FURIOUS FIRES

Destroy Much Valuable Property —Lives Lost.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 10.—About three o'clock this morning a fire destroyed the residence of C. T. Kayner, of Jamestown. Mr. Kayner and his wife were burned to death.

EVANSVILLE, Ind. Feb. 10.—A fire at Princeton, Ind., last night was not checked until every building on the side of the square where it started was burned. Loss estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000. Insured for $15,000.

MIDDLEBORO, Mass., Feb. 10.—Leland & Barrows' shoe factory, with two large ells, burned last night. The loss is $60,000. About 250 men and women are thrown out of employment.

HUNTER'S POINT, N. Y., Feb. 10.—The Hempstead Club stable, belonging to the Meadow Brook Hunt, at East Meadow, was burned this morning, with twenty-four valuable horses, valued at $30,000.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—A fire occurred early this morning in the cellar of a seven story building, 746 Broadway, owned by O. W. Potter. Underhill, Slote and Cornell, clothiers; Hutchinson, Pierce & Co., shirts, and Fischheimer, Goodkind & Co., manufacturers of clothing, occupied the building. Loss, $50,000; fully insured.

New Appointments.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The president has nominated Stephen A. Walker to be United States attorney for the southern district of New York. For United States marshals: Galusha Pennell, for the eastern district of Michigan and Christopher Franks for the district of California.

Henry W. Bond, wholesale dealer in Flour, Chop Feed, Bread, Cakes and Confectionary and manufacturer of Bond's Boston Brown Bread Meal, will on and after Feb. 15, occupy No. 224 Calhoun street, between Douglas avenue and Brackenridge street, with a large supply of the above. I solicit the patronage of my present customers and all others who may find the new stand convenient, and will furnish them with the best goods in the market, at the lowest prices. HENRY W. BOND. 104

LEGAL LIGHTS ABROAD.

The Coombs and Boyle Cases to Come Up Before the Supreme Court.

The case of the city vs Coombs, on appeal to the supreme court, will be orally argued before that tribunal to-morrow. Mr. John M. Coombs recovered a judgment against the city for $2,800 for damages occasioned his stock of goods by reason of the breaking of the Clinton street sewer, which he claims was negligently constructed and suffered to get out of repair. There are several other cases of a like nature pending against the city which will be pressed if the supreme court confirms Mr. Coombs' judgement.

Judge John Morris and Hon. R. C. Bell represent Mr. Coombs and Mr. Henry Colerick represents the city. They left for Indianapolis to-day to be present when the supreme tribunal convenes to-morrow.

The case of Billy Boyle vs. the state comes before the supreme court Friday. Messrs. Colerick & Oppenheim appear for Mr. Boyle and Mr. C. M. Dawson for the state. Messrs. Colerick & Oppenheim hope to reverse the sentence of Billy Boyle and bring him back from prison for a new trial.

THE NEW MEDICAL LAW.

A Question as to Whether it May Not Also Apply to Dentists.

The medical bill passed by the last legislature, and which caused so much commotion among physicians, has been commented upon so little of late as to warrant the belief that its provisions were well understood, and that no more trouble would arise to county clerks from non-compliance with its requirements. It seems, however, that a new question as to the scope of the law has arisen, and that another class of citizens may be called upon to take out licenses to earn their daily bread.

The medical bill prohibits the practice of medicine, "obstetrics and surgery" by unlicensed persons. The question now is whether the dental profession is not included in this provision; in a word, whether "dental surgeons," as the dentists now call themselves, are not surgeons within the meaning of the law, and hence liable themselves thereunder. It is understood the Allen county medical society will look into this matter.

THE DEAD HERO.

Arrangements for General Hancock's Funeral.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

NORRISTOWN, Penna., Feb. 10.—A dispatch from Lieutenant Griffin, of General Hancock's staff, to B. Payne, of this borough, states that the funeral will probably take place here. The date has not yet been fixed, but will probably be on Saturday. Arrangements for the funeral are now in progress.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 10.—The legislature adopted a resolution to-day respecting the death of General Hancock and ordering the flags on the state building at half mast until after the obsequies.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The body of General Hancock remained in the room in which he died last night. Many telegrams have been received, among them, one from S. J. Tilden, President Cleveland, General Howard, the governors of Pennsylvania, Michigan and Ohio, and also from the military and naval officers all over the country.

The body will be taken from Governor's Island Battery Saturday morning by the Steamer Chester A. Arthur. The funeral procession will go to Trinity church, where services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix and his assistants.

The "only troops in line will be those from Governor's Island. The staff of the late general will follow the hearse. There will be no address at the church. A special train will take the funeral party to Philadelphia, where the Philadelphia division of the military order of Loyal Legion will join the party and accompany the body to Norristown. In accordance with the general's wishes the funeral will be of the simplest character.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 10.—To-day, after passing appropriate resolutions and eulogizing Gen. Hancock, the Kentucky legislature adjourned until to-morrow, as a token of respect to that distinguished soldier.

THE DITTY THAT MARGERY SINGS.

A Visit to a Woman's Gymnasium—An Explanation—Conversation of Women, Etc., Etc.

Margery Daw.
I'm in love, but I've never told her,
Never told the maiden I love;
I lie in the long green grass and behold her
As she sings all day in the boughs above.
I'm a student with toll o'erladen,
And a student ever should books prefer,
But she's such a darling, dainty maiden,
My thoughts go swinging away with her.

See saw!
Margery Daw!
Up in the apple-tree Margery swings,
And I, lying under,
Watch her, and wonder
What is the ditty that Margery sings.
And she goes swinging; and I go slaving,
Turning the leaves of a musty book,
But surely that was her white hand waving,
And surely that was my darling's look.
A perfect fortress of books I sit in,
Ethics, economy, politics, law,
But all the pages I vow were written
By that little philosopher, Margery Daw.

See saw!
Margery Daw!
Up in the apple-tree Margery swings;
And I, lying under,
Watch her, and wonder
What is the ditty that Margery sings.
The light is fading, the day grown older,
And now the westerling sun is gone,
And Margery, I too more behold her;
In the deep cool grass I lie alone.
For Margery she was a sunbeam only,
And I was a fool for all my pain,
But whenever I'm sad and whenever I'm lonely
Back comes Margery, back again.

See saw!
Margery Daw!
Up in the apple-tree Margery sings;
For "Life's a dream,
And love's a shadow,"
And that is the ditty that Margery sings.

More Convenient.

"Do you ever sweep under the bed?"
inquired a fond mother of her eldest, whose room at college she was looking over. "Oh, yes, often. It's so much easier than a dustpan, you know," replied the hopeful. —Chicago Rambler.

A Reciprocal Spirit.

"I can't find my toothbrush anywhere," said a Cottage Hill young lady, looking all over the house for the article.

"I'll lend you mine," accommodatingly suggested the colored kitchen girl.

"Oh, no, thanks!" replied the young lady, turning away.

"You needn't hab no combustion about takin' it, miss," persisted the girl, "for I's used yours sometimes when I couldn't find mine." —Oil City Derrick.

An Explanation.

At a social gathering on Austin avenue not long since, the subject of bald heads came up for discussion, and it was a subject of general mystification that there were so many more bald-headed men than there were women.
Nobody was able to give a reasonable explanation for this until old Colonel Swipe, who is baldier than a watermelon, and who has buried five wives, spoke up and said it was perfectly plain to him why men had less hair on their heads than women.

He was asked to explain, which he did thus:—

"You see, gentlemen, when a man gets mad he pulls his own hair, and when his wife gets mad she pulls out that which is left of it. It is a mystery to me how a married man is able to keep a single hair on his head." —Texas Siftings.

In the Woman's Gymnasium.

The first thing that impresses one on entering the woman's gymnasium is their air of cheerfulness. Evidently it is a region where no one breaks records, and whose occupants disport themselves with a mind and body equally at ease.
The effect of the gymnastic suits is rather nondescript, and the spectator is at first constantly startled by boyish figures in blouse waists and Turkish trousers, surmounted by feminine hairdressing; and to an observer of the costuming of the Harvard Gymnasium, whose only ornamentation consists of a pair of eyeglasses, the incongruity is heightened by an active gymnast with lace ruffles on her sleeves and bangles on her well-developed wrists. The feminine taste for adornment is not to be overcome even by athletics, and more than one pair of Indian clubs are jauntily tied with a ribbon. They are swung in the regulation manner, however, and the girls pull chest-weights and swing on the flying rings with as much skill and much less solemnity than their brothers.
They are a pretty sight, with their free,
easy movements and their fresh color beaming with exercise, and are especially agreeable to the eye because of their infinite improvement upon the school-girl of a decade ago. There still exist schools, such as one we knew, where, at fortnightly intervals, the pupils tied their sunbonnets on securely, and under the care of several teachers,
walked down to the entrance gate, walked back to the gardens, in and out several times through the prim box-bordered paths, and then walked into the house again. At the end of the year they were bleached like so many stalks of celery. It is the good work of the gymnasiums to make such institutions anachronisms. —Boston Journal.

Conversation of Women.

In the art of conversation, woman, if not the queen and victor, is the lawgiver, says Ralph Waldo Emerson in one of his essays. If everyone recalled his experience, he might find the best in the speech of superior women —which was better than song, and carried ingenuity, character, wise counsel, and affection as easily as the wit with which it was adorned. They are not only wise themselves; they make us wise. No one can be a master in conversation who has not learned much from women; their presence and inspiration are essential to its success.
Steele said of his mistress that "to have loved her was a liberal education." Shenstone gave no bad account of this influence in his description of the French woman: "There is a quality in which no woman in the world can compete with her—it is the power of intellectual irritation. She can draw wit out of a fool. She strikes with such address the chords of self-love that she gives unexpected vigor and agility to fancy, and electrifies a body that appears non-electric." Coleridge esteems cultivated women as the depositories and guardians of "English undefiled," and Luther commends that accomplishment of "pure German" speech of his wife. Mme. de Staël, by the unanimous consent of all who knew her, was the most extraordinary converser that was known in her time, and it was a time full of eminent men and women;
she knew all distinguished persons in letters or society in England, Germany, and Italy as well as in France, though she said, with characteristic nationality,
"Conversation, like talent, exists only in France." Mme. de Staël valued nothing but conversation. When they showed her the beautiful Lake Lemano she exclaimed, "O, for the gutter of the Rue de Bac!"—the street in Paris in which her home stood. And she said one day, seriously, to M. Mole: "If it were not for respect to human opinions
I would not open my window to see the Bay of Naples for the first time, whilst I would go 500 leagues to talk with a man of genius whom I had never seen." St. Beuve tells us of the privileged circle of Coppet, that, after making an excursion one day, the party returned in two coaches from Chambéry to Aix on the way to Coppet. The last coach had many rueful accidents to relate—a terrible thunder-storm, shocking roads, and danger and gloom to the whole company. The party in the second coach, on arriving, heard this story with surprise; of thunder-storms, of steep, of mud, of danger, they knew nothing; no, they had forgotten earth and breathed a purer air; such a conversation between Mme. de Staël and Mme. Recamier and Benjamin Constant and Schlegel; they were all in a state of delight. The intoxication of the conversation had made them insensible to any notice of weather or rough roads. Mme. de Tesse said: "If I were Queen I should command Mme.
de Staël to talk to me every day." Conversation fills all gaps, supplies all deficiencies. What a good trait is that recorded of Mme. de Maintenon, that, during dinner, the servant slipped to her and said: "Please, Madame, one anecdote more, for there is no roast today."

STRANGE PROFESSIONS.

Among the curiosities of the Indian census are the extraordinary professions which some of Her Majesty's subjects declare they pursue. In Allahabad no fewer than 974 at a former census described themselves as "low black-guards," a calling which, however, is only too common elsewhere than in Allahabad; but the professional "painters of horses with spots" and the "hereditary clerks who pray to their ink-horns" are surely peculiar to India.

In Russia, however, the progress of civilization has developed a new profession which it would be difficult to match even in India. The St. Petersburg insurance companies have just captured one of three members of this profession who have carried on this lucrative vocation for several years. They were in the habit of arranging for conflagrations with the owners of insured premises. On being granted 20 per cent. of the insurance money they set fire to the houses, which, being mostly built of wood, burned easily enough.

They might have been earning their 20 per cent. to-day but for the astuteness of the Libau police, who set a trap for them into which they fell, much to the delight of the insurance companies.
It is possible enough that members of this scandalous profession are not unknown in other countries except Russia.

Frauds against insurance companies are difficult to detect even when the insured fires his own property; but when the work is done by a professional fire-raiser detection becomes almost impossible. —Pall Mall Gazette.

DISAPPOINTED.

The prime mover in the theatricals—
"But the 'Merry Wives of Windsor' is a splendid play for us and your part is the best of all." She (blushingly)—
"Well, I will never consent to appear as the wife of a man who has other wives.
And, besides, the whole character is disgusting." He—"Which character?"
She—"Why, Mrs. Windsor's." —Life.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a manner peculiar to itself, the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. You will find this wonderful remedy effective where other medicines have failed. Try it now. It will purify your blood, regulate the digestion, and give new life and vigor to the entire body.
"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me great good.
I was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." Mrs. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y.
"I suffered three years from blood poison.
I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and think I am cured." Mrs. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown.
Send for book containing additional evidence.
"Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. H. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.
"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Fruit House Bulletin

Great Reduction in Prices for 1886.

Goods are so low now that it can hardly be expected that there will be any further decline, so that those laying in full supplies will not likely be disappointed.

Coffee Down 2c, Tea Down 10c, Sugars Down 1-2c, Syrups
Down 10c, Turkish Prunes Down 1c.

Best Rio Coffee down to 10c a pound; good Rio coffee down to 8c a pound; best Roasted Rio down to 12c a pound; Government Java, 20c; Roasted Java 25c.

TEAS Reduced in Proportion.

It is no more a luxury to buy Teas. When they were $1 and $2 per pound then of course the consumption of them was small, but now the price is so low that a good Tea can be bought at 20c per pound then they came within the reach of all.
We are enabled to do so in consequence of our immense trade. At times we sell two and three chests daily, and buying direct of the importers and selling direct to the consumers, enables us to save our customers the profits of the jobber, speculator and wholesale merchant which is at least 10 to 20 per pound.
Young Hyson, good, 20c; choice, 30c; best 50c; Gunpowder, good, 30c; choice, 40; best 50c;
Oolong or Black Tea 20c; choice, 30c; best 50c; Japan Tea, uncolored, 35c; choice, 40; best 50c;

A Great Sale.

As is well known we have disposed of our lease and fixtures and agreed to give possession of our store on the 1st day of April. We have further agreed not to engage in the dry-goods business in Fort Wayne for the period of five years.
Hence you see that we must get rid of every dollar worth of goods in the next few months, to do this we must sacrifice our stock without mercy and we are willing to do it.

Cloths, Cassimeres, Flannels, Hosiery,
Silks, Dress goods, Shawls, Cloaks, Jerseys, Laces, Kid gloves, Prints, Mus-

A Mad Mob Approaches London.

The Boisterous Crowd Smash Buildings and Wreck a Big Business Block.

An Immense Socialist Meeting Called for This Evening and now in Progress.

AT IT AGAIN.

Another Mob Marching on London.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—Thus far to-day there has been no renewal of rioting.

2:30 p. m.—News has been received in the city that the mob of roughs which had assembled at Deptford, are marching towards the city, smashing windows and wrecking fronts of houses.

2:20 p. m.—The Deptford mob has reached Hope Exchange, in Southwark, nearly five miles from the starting point. The mob was enormously increased by constant accessions during the progress north. The destination seems to be Trafalgar square.

The police hold all bridge approaches and are preparing to resist an attack. The mob sacked the mammoth establishment of Wm. Iarn & Co. This building covers the ground from and including No. 5 to No. 21, on New Kent road, to 165 to 173, Newington Causeway, devoted to trade in linen, silk, men's and women's clothes, etc. The light building was badly wrecked. All shops are being closed and barricaded everywhere throughout the city.

The Deptford mob has dispersed. The streets are thronged. No conflict with the authorities has yet occurred. A socialistic meeting is to be held this evening. Two and a-half hours before the time announced for the assembly, over a thousand men were on the ground. The crowd is being constantly augmented by accessions from Trafalgar Square. A movement has been inaugurated to secure a meeting of all London members of the house of commons, to devise measures for the immediate relief of the distress in London.

WASHINGTON

Proceedings in Both Houses of Congress.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Among bills reported favorably from the committees and placed on the calendar, was one to authorize the secretary of the navy to fit out an expedition to observe the total eclipse of the sun on the 29th of August, 1886.

Among the bills indefinitely postponed was one allowing discharged officers of the army one year's pay and allowances.

HOUSE.

The speaker laid before the house the response of the secretary of the treasury upon the resolutions calling for information on questions arising under the tariff act of 1883. Referred.

A WHITE WOMAN

Shot by Her Colored Paramour.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 10.—Yesterday morning, Etta Jones, once a beautiful woman, was shot by Al Williams, her colored lover. Williams and the woman lived together for a long time. She came here from Portsmouth, Ohio, about two years ago and says she is from a good family, having assumed the name of Jones out of respect for her family. Williams is in jail. The woman can live but a short time.

INDIANA EDITORS.

Who Believe Democrats Should Administer the Government.

The sixth annual convention of the Democratic Editorial Association of Indiana will convene at the Grand Hotel, at Indianapolis, at ten o'clock on the 25th of the present month. It will be remembered that this association met at Maxinkuckee last July, and adopted a series of strong democratic resolutions. The convention this year promises to be one of unusual importance, and more straight talk is looked for. The Indiana editors believe that the offices should be filled by democrats, and do not hesitate to say so. Addresses will be delivered by Col. J. B. Maynard, Col. I. B. McDonald, Hon. W. R. Myers, Hon. Will E. English, Hon. Robt. C. Bell, Hon. James P. Applegate, Hon. W. C. Ball, W. S. Ray, and others. Quite a time is expected.

AN EPIDEMIC OF RHYMING.

The society goes on famously. We have had a paper presented and read lately which has greatly amused some of us and provoked a few of the weaker sort. The writer is that erudite old Professor of Belles-Lettres at that men's college over there. He is dreadfully hard on the poor "poets," as they call themselves. It seems that a great many young girls, of whom the Institute has furnished a considerable proportion, have taken to sending him their rhymed productions to be criticized—expecting to be praised, no doubt, every one of them. I must give you one of the spiciest extracts from his paper in his own words:

"It takes half my time to read the 'poems' sent me by young people of both sexes. They would be more shy of doing it if they knew that I recognize a tendency to rhyming as a common form of mental weakness, and the publication of a thin volume of verse as prima facie evidence of ambitious mediocrity, if not inferiority. Of course there are exceptions to this rule of judgment, but I maintain that the presumption is always against the rhymester as compared with the less pretentious persons about him or her, busy with some useful calling—too busy to be tagging rhymed common-places together. Just now there seems to be an epidemic of rhyming as bad as the dancing mania, or the sweating sickness. After reading a certain amount of manuscript verse one is disposed to anthropomorphize the inventor of homophony syllabification. [This phrase made a great laugh when it was read.] This, that is rhyming, must have been found out very early—

When was you Adam?
Here am I, madam;

but it can never have been habitually practiced until after the fall. The intrusion of tinkling rhymed terminations of conversational intercourse of men and angels would have spoiled Paradise itself. Milton would not have then in "Paradise Lost," you remember. For my own part, I wish certain rhymes could be declared contraband of written or printed language. Nothing should be allowed to be hurled at the world or whirled with it, or furlled upon it, or curled over it; all eyes should be kept away from the skies, in spite of as homini sublimis deus; youth should be compelled with all the virtues except truth; earth should never be reminded of her birth; death should never be allowed to stop mortal's breath, nor the bell to sound his knell, nor flowers from blossoming bowers to wave over his grave or show their bloom upon his tomb. We have rhyming dictionaries—let us have one from which all rhymes are rigorously excluded. The sight of a poor creature grubbing for rhymes to fill up his sonnet, or to obtain one of those voracious, rhyme-swallowing rigmoroles which some of our arduous poetical operatives have been exhausting themselves of late to satiate with jingles, makes my head ache and my stomach rebel. Work, work of some kind, is the business of men and women, not the making of jingles! No, no, no! I want to see the young people in our schools and academies and colleges, and the graduates of these institutions, lifted up out of the little Dismal Swamp of self-contemplating and self-indulging and self-complacent emotionalism which is surfacing the land with those literary sandwiches—thin slices of tinkling sentimentality between two covers looking like hard-baked gilt gingerbread. But what does these young folks make up at my good advice? They got tizzy on their rhymes. Nothing intoxicates one like his—his—own verses, and they hold on to their metro-melancholy as the fellows that inhale nitrous oxide hold on to the gas-bag."—Oliver Wendell Holmes, in Atlantic.

There will be no motion on the Academy to-morrow afternoon.

ABOUT HOME

And the Gospel of the Neighborhood.

Mr. Thomas M. Gruelle, has become the editor of the Indianapolis Labour Signal, succeeding Mr. John F. White.

There are ninety-two county superintendents in Indiana, and they cost the state $106,000 annually in round numbers, or even more than a million dollars every ten years.

Philip Metz, a well-known citizen of Wabash, died suddenly on Monday morning. His attendant had left the room for a moment, and on his return found Metz dead.

A detachment of the Salvation army, twenty strong, have taken possession of the little village of Sweetzer, south of Wabash. They are accompanied by drums and tamborines. Xenia will be the next place visited.

The signatures of thirty six prominent Kosciusko county farmers have been cut off from assessment blanks on file at the county auditor's office. The names are being utilized by the note-forgers who are infesting Kosciusko and Wabash counties.

Fire broke out in a poker room at Xenia, south of Wabash, and before the flames could be checked a row of wooden buildings were consumed, entailing a loss of $3,500. The buildings, owned by Perry Goodwin and Mrs. Eliza Brown, were insured for $1,000.

A Gaitling gun belonging to the state, and valued at $1,000, which was stolen from the Richmond armory in July last, was found in a cellar in that city a few days ago. Quartermaster General Shepard was there at the time, prosecuting an investigation by the grand jury.

Religious revivals continue at Cambridge City, with over one hundred converts; at North Manchester, with nearly one hundred; at Elizabeth, Harrison county; Columbia City; Akron and Sweetzer, Wabash county. A Universalist revival is also in progress at Columbia City.

At the New Orleans exposition last week special examinations were made of the various educational exhibits, and the press of that city and the commissioners of the various states unite in the expressed opinion that the exhibit made by Indiana is by far the best and most creditable.

Never in the history of Warsaw have such vast quantities of ice been packed at that place. Every nook of the immense houses on the lakes there is filled and the congealed fluid promises to be a drug on the market. A leading dealer estimates the cut at Warsaw at nearly 100,000 tons—all of the first quality.

Hon. W. H. English says that he has never been a candidate for any office under the present administration, (reports to the contrary notwithstanding), that he is not seeking the position of controller of the currency, and does not expect to become a candidate. He admits that a seat in the United States senate would be to his liking, and he may therefore be considered "in the hands of his friends."

THE GERMAN RAILROAD.

They are making a great fuss about an engineer on a railroad in Germany who has run on the road forty-nine years and never had an accident. We don't see anything wonderful about it, says R. J. Burdette, in the Brooklyn Eagle. The engineer on a German railroad, we believe, always walks ahead of his train and shows everything off the track while his wife shoves the train along after him. Still, we can see how an accident might happen. The engineer might grow weary and climb on the train and go to sleep, and so get into the station ahead of time, and run the risk of catching a severe cold while waiting for the Eisenbahnwagen (German for station agent) to open the Schweitzkasten (German for ground ham) and Wurstschinken (German for sausage). Indeed, when you come to think over it seriously, the life of a German railroad engineer, after he has been in continuous service ninety years, and has lost his hair, teeth, sight, and hearing, and his sense of taste begins to fail, is enviable with peril.

The late Mr. J. B. Lippincott, of Philadelphia, is said to have been worth $20,000,000. He was one of the richest men in Philadelphia, and probably one of the fifty richest men in the United States, as it is doubtful if there are fifty men in the United States worth more than $20,000,000 each. His two sons succeed him in his publishing business.

A well known citizen of Walthamville, Md., Mr. W. R. Graves, writes:—I suffer sometimes with acute rheumatism and your Salvation Oil gives me instantaneous relief, and I recommend it as a sure cure for this terrible disease.

A Wayward Son Abuses His Mother and Heart Broken She Drops Dead.

FLED TO CANADA.

The Mayor of White House, Ohio, Absconds.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

CHICAGO, Ill. Feb. 10.—A special from White House, Ohio, says: "Mayor O. G. Wales has fled to Canada, because of irregularities in his business. Besides being agent of the Wabash railroad at this point, he had a pension agency. He recently procured a pension for a widow, amounting to $1,400, charged an illegal fee, and withheld part of the money."

A BAD BOY

Causes His Mother's Heart to Break.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Last night about midnight, Mrs. Kate Barker applied to the police for an officer to arrest her son, Paul, sixteen years old, who is in the habit of coming home late, intoxicated, and creating a disturbance. On the way back with an officer, the woman stopped suddenly and exclaimed: "Oh God! my heart is breaking!" and fell. She died on the way to the station. The son soon after was arrested and when he saw the dead body of his mother he said he had caused it all.

JOHN KELLY'S CONDITION.

The Victim of Dyspepsia—Morose, Moody and Irritable.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Mr. John Kelly is a victim of dyspepsia and catarrh. Usually cheerful and buoyant, he is now morose, moody and irritable. He sits and broods over his troubles, doesn't care to see his friends and lies awake and walks the floor at night. He is a sort of hypochondriac, and fancies that he is going to be ill a year longer. He was kept at the head of Tammany another year to prevent, or at least postpone, the fight of extermination between Lowe and Crocker.

FURIOUS FIRES

Destroy Much Valuable Property—Lives Lost.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

RUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 10.—About three o'clock this morning a fire destroyed the residence of O. T. Kayner, of Jamestown. Mr. Kayner and his wife were burned to death.

EVANSVILLE, Ind. Feb. 10.—A fire at Princeton, Ind., last night was not checked until every building on the side of the square where it started was burned. Loss estimated at from $25,000 to $30,000. Insured for $15,000.

ALBANY, Mass., Feb. 10.—Lanard & Barrows' shoe factory, with two large ells, burned last night. The loss is $30,000. About 250 men and women are thrown out of employment.

HUNTER'S POINT, N. Y., Feb. 10.—The Hempstead Club stable, belonging to the Meadow Brook Hunt, at East Meadow, was burned this morning, with twenty-four valuable horses, valued at $30,000.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—A fire occurred early this morning in the cellar of a seven story building, 746 Broadway, owned by O. W. Potter. Underhill, Slate and Cornell, clothiers; Hulohinson, Pierce & Co., shirts, and Fish-leimer, Goodkind & Co., manufacturers of clothing, occupied the building. Loss, $50,000; fully insured.

New Appointments.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The president has nominated Stephen A. Walker to be United States attorney for the southern district of New York. For United States marshals: Calista Pennell, for the eastern district of Michigan and Christopher Pranks for the district of California.

Henry W. Bond, wholesale dealer in Flour, Chop Feed, Bread, Cakes and Confectionary and manufacturer of Bond's Boston Brown Bread Meal, will on and after Feb. 15, occupy No. 224 Calhoun street, between Douglas avenue and Brackenridge street, with a large supply of the above. BOND. 104

LEGAL LIGHTS ABROAD.

The Coombs and Boyle Cases to Come Up Before the Supreme Court.

The case of the city vs Coombs, on appeal to the supreme court, will be orally argued before that tribunal to-morrow. Mr. John M. Coombs recovered a judgment against the city for $2,800 for damages occasioned his stock of goods by reason of the breaking of the Clinton street sewer, which he claims was negligently constructed and suffered to get out of repair. There are several other cases of a like nature pending against the city which will be pressed if the supreme court confirms Mr. Coombs' judgement.

Judge John Morris and Hon. R. O. Bell represent Mr. Coombs and Mr. Henry Colerick represents the city. They left for Indianapolis to-day to be present when the supreme tribunal convenes to-morrow.

The case of Billy Boyle vs. the state comes before the supreme court Friday. Messrs. Colerick & Oppenheim appear for Mr. Boyle and Mr. C. M. Dawson will look after the interests of the state. Messrs. Colerick & Oppenheim hope to reverse the sentence of Billy Boyle and bring him back from prison for a new trial.

THE NEW MEDICAL LAW.

A Question as to Whether It May Not Also Apply to Dentists.

"The medical bill passed by the last legislature, and which caused so much commotion among physicians, has been commented upon so little of late as to warrant the belief that its provisions were well understood, and that no more trouble would arise to county clerks from non-compliance with its requirements. It seems, however, that a new question as to the scope of the law has arisen, and that another class of citizens may be called upon to take out licenses to earn their daily bread.

The medical bill prohibits the practice of medicine, "obstetrics and surgery" by unlicensed persons. The question now is whether the dental profession is not included in this provision; in a word, whether "dental surgeons," as the dentists now call themselves, are not surgeons within the meaning of the law, and hence liable themselves thereunder. It is understood the Allen county medical society will look into this matter.

"The Shadows of a Great City."

L. B. Shewell's great melo-drama will be presented at the Temple opera house to-night and to-morrow night, with this splendid cast of characters: Tom Cooper, Nelson Wheatcroft, George Benson, H. W. Herman, Jim Farren, George R. Edson, Abe Nathans, a Pawnbroker, Wm. Cullington, Mr. Arkwright, a Detective, W. H. Burton, Hammond, Edwin B. Tilton, Crouch, Harry Pearson, Biggs, Thomas Lytton, Simon Abele, Charles Scott, Joe Downey, W. C. Utter, Annie Standish, a poor woman, Helen Standish, her daughter, Edna Carey, Biddy Ronan, Annie Ward Tiffany, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. E. Boswell, Nellie, a child, Little Gertie Boswell.

The scenes will locate a Pawnbroker's shop, near Catherine market, New York City; Blackwell's Island and Hell Gate; Boat House on Harlem River; Banker's Mansion on Fifth Avenue.

LOCAL LINES.

There was no police court this morning.

Dr. C. B. Stemen has returned from Kansas City.

Mr. W. D. Puga has a coop of fancy pigeons at the poultry show.

The poultry show and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be rival attractions this week.

Louise Sylvester has been booked for an engagement at the Temple a week from next Saturday.

Charles S. Poulks sues George Woods to recover $300 on account. The Colericks filed the complaint.

Charles Lauger and Emma Schulze, and Elmer E. Olmstead and Jennie Maudy, have been licensed to marry.

Rebecca Neff sues Mary M. Fry et al, for $1,500 on a mortgage. Spencer & Jenkinson represent the claimant.

"Athlophorus" sells well, and it is perfectly reliable. I take pleasure in recommending it to my patrons. It either benefits or cures in every case." S. M. Irwin, a leading druggist of Decatur, Illinois, gives as his experience.

FINAL!

Gen. W. S. Hancock Will Be Buried Saturday.

The Funeral to Be of the Very Simplest Character, at His Own Request.

Norristown, Pennsylvania, Selected As the Place of Sepulchre of the Great Soldier.

THE DEAD HERO.

Arrangements for General Hancock's Funeral.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL. NORRISTOWN, Penna., Feb. 10.—A dispatch from Lieutenant Griffin, of General Hancock's staff, to B. Payne, of this borough, states that the funeral will probably take place here. The date has not yet been fixed, but will probably be on Saturday. Arrangements for the funeral are now in progress.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 10.—The legislature adopted a resolution to-day respecting the death of General Hancock and ordering the flags on the state building at half mast until after the obsequies.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The body of General Hancock remained in the room in which he died last night. Many telegrams have been received among them, one from S. J. Tilden, President Cleveland, General Howard, the governors of Pennsylvania, Michigan and Ohio, and also from the military and naval officers all over the country.

The body will be taken from Governor's Island Battery Saturday morning by the Steamer Chester A. Arthur. The funeral procession will go to Trinity church, where services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix and his assistants.

The "only troops in line will be those from Governor's Island. The staff of the late general will follow the hearse. There will be no address at the church.

A special train will take the funeral party to Philadelphia, where the Philadelphia division of the military order of Loyal Legion will join the party and accompany the body to Norristown. In accordance with the general's wishes the funeral will be of the simplest character.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 10.—To-day, after passing appropriate resolutions and eulogizing Gen. Hancock, the Kentucky legislature adjourned until to-morrow, as a token of respect to that distinguished soldier.

THE DITTY THAT MARGERY SINGS.

A Visit to a Woman's Gymnasium—An Explanation—Conversation of Women, Etc., Etc.

Margery Dore.

I'm in love, but I've never told her,
Never told the maiden I love;
I lie in the long green grass and behind her
As she sings all day in the boughs above.
I'm a student with toll o'erleaden,
And a student over should books prefer,
But she's such a darling, dainty maiden,
My thoughts go swinging away with her.

See saw!
Margery Daw!
Up in the apple-tree Margery swings,
And I, lying under,
Watch her, and wonder
What is the ditty that Margery sings.

And she goes swinging; and I go staving,
Turning the leaves of a tawny book,
But surely that was her white hand waving,
And surely that was my darling's look.
A perfect fortress of books I sit in,
Ethics, economy, politics, law,
But all the pages I now were written
By that little philosopher, Margery Daw.

See saw!
Margery Daw!
Up in the apple-tree Margery swings;
And I, lying under,
Watch her, and wonder
What is the ditty that Margery sings.

The light is fading, the day grown older,
And now the waning sun is gone,
And Margery, I no more behold her;
In the deep cool grass I lie alone.
For Margery she was a sunbeam only,
And I was a fool for all my pain,
But whenever I'm sad and whenever I'm lonely
Back comes Margery, back again.

See saw!
Margery Daw!
Up in the apple-tree Margery sings;
For 'Life's a dream,'
And love's a shadow,
And that is the ditty that Margery sings.

More Content.

"Do you ever sweep under the bed?" inquired a fond mother of her eldest, whose room at college she was looking over. "Oh, yes, often. It's so much easier than a dustpan, you know," replied the hopeful. —Chicago Rambler.

A Reciprocal Spirit.

"I can't find my toothbrush anywhere," said a Cottage Hill young lady, looking all over the house for the article.

"'Til I see you mine," accommodatingly suggested the colored kitchen girl.

"Oh, no, thanks!" replied the young lady, turning away.

"You needn't hab no combustion about takin' it, miss," persisted the girl, "for I's used yours sometimes when I couldn't find mine." —Oil City Derrick.

An Explanation.

At a social gathering on Austin avenue not long since, the subject of bald heads came up for discussion, and it was a subject of general mystification that there were so many more bald-headed men than there were women. Nobody was able to give a reasonable explanation for this until old Colonel Swipe, who is bolder than a water-melon, and who has buried five wives, spoke up and said it was perfectly plain to him why men had less hair on their heads than women.

He was asked to explain, which he did thus:—

"You see, gentlemen, when a man gets mad he pulls his own hair, and when his wife gets mad she pulls out that which is left of it. It is a mystery to me how a married man is able to keep a single hair on his head." —Texas Siftings.

In the Woman's Gymnasium.

The first thing that impresses one on entering the woman's gymnasiums is their air of cheerfulness. Evidently it is a region where no one breaks records, and whose occupants disport themselves with a mind and body equally at ease. The effect of the gymnastic suits is rather nondescript, and the spectator is at first constantly startled by boyish figures in blouse waists and Turkish trousers, surmounted by feminine hairdressing; and to an observer of the costuming of the Harvard Gymnasium, whose only ornamentation consists of a pair of eyeglasses, the incongruity is heightened by an active gymnast with lace ruffles on her sleeves and bangs on her well-developed wrists. The feminine taste for adornment is not to be overcome even by athletics, and more than one pair of Indian clubs are jauntily tied with a ribbon. They are swung in the regulation manner, however, and the girls pull chest-weights and swing on the flying rings with as much skill and much less solemnity than their brothers. They are a pretty sight, with their free, easy movements and their fresh color brightening with exercise, and are especially agreeable to the eye because of their infinite improvement upon the school-girl of a decade ago. There still exist schools, such as one we know, where, at fortnightly intervals, the pupils find their sublimities on security, and, under the care of several teachers, walked down to the entrance gate, walked back to the gardens, in and out several times through the prim box-bordered paths, and then walked into the house again. At the end of the year they were bleached like so many stalks of celery. It is the good work of the gymnasiums to make such institutions anachronisms. —Boston Journal.

Conversation of Women.

In the art of conversation, women, if not the queen and victor, is the law-giver, says Ralph Waldo Emerson in one of his essays. If everyone recalled his experience, he might find the best in the speech of superior women—which was better than song, and carried ingenuity, character, wise counsel, and affection as easily as the wit with which it was adorned. They are not only wise themselves; they make us wise. No one can be a master in conversation who has not learned much from women; their presence and inspiration are essential to its success. Steele said of his mistress that "to have loved her was a liberal education." Shonstone gave no bad account of this influence in his description of the French woman: "There is a quality in which no woman in the world can compete with her—it is the power of intellectual irritation. She can draw wit out of a fool. She strikes with such address the chords of self-love that she gives unexpected vigor and agility to fancy, and electrifies a body that appears non-electric." Coleridge esteems cultivated women as the depositories and guardians of "English undefiled," and Luther commands that accomplishment of "pure German" speech of his wife. Mme. de Staël, by the unanimous consent of all who knew her, was the most extraordinary converser that was known in her time, and it was a time full of eminent men and women; she knew all distinguished persons in letters or society in England, Germany, and Italy as well as in France, though she said, with characteristic nationality, "Conversation, like talent, exists only in France." Mme. de Staël valued nothing but conversation. When they showed her the beautiful Lake Lemann she exclaimed, "O, for the gutter of the Rne de Bac!"—the street in Paris in which her home stood. And she said one day, seriously, to M. Mole: "If it were not for respect to human opinions I would not open my window to see the Bay of Naples for the first time, whilst I would go 600 leagues to talk with a man of genius whom I had never seen." St. Beuve tells of the privileged circle of Coppet, that, after making an excursion one day, the party returned in two coaches from Chambéry to Aix on the way to Coppet. The last coach had many rueful accidents to relate—a terrible thunder-storm, shattering roads, and danger and gloom to the whole company. The party in the second coach, on arriving, heard this story with surprise; of thunder-storms, of steep, of mud, of danger, they knew nothing; no, they had forgotten earth and breathed a purer air; such a conversation between Mme. de Staël and Mme. Regnier and Benjamin Constant and Schlegel; they were all in a state of delight. The intoxication of the conversation had made them insensible to any notice of weather or rough roads. Mme. de Tasse said: "If I were Queen I should command Mme. de Staël to talk to me every day." Conversation fills all gaps, supplies all deficiencies. What a good trait is that recorded of Mme. de Maintenon, that, during dinner, the servant slipped to her and said: "Please, Madame, one anecdote more, for there is no roast to-day."

STRANGE PROFESSIONS.

Among the curiosities of the Indian census are the extraordinary professions which some of Her Majesty's subjects declare they pursue. In Allahabad no fewer than 974 at a former census described themselves as "low black-guards," a calling which, however, is only too common elsewhere than in Allahabad; but the professional "painters of horses with spots" and the "hereditary clerks who pray to their Ink-horns" are surely peculiar to India.

In Russia, however, the progress of civilization has developed a new profession which it would be difficult to match even in India. The St. Petersburg insurance companies have just captured one of three members of this profession who have carried on this lucrative vocation for several years. They were in the habit of arranging for conflagrations with the owners of insured premises. On being granted 20 per cent. of the insurance money they set fire to the houses, which, being mostly built of wood, burned easily enough.

They might have been earning their 20 per cent. to-day but for the astuteness of the Lithuan police, who set a trap for them into which they fell, much to the delight of the insurance companies. It is possible enough that members of this scandalous profession are not unknown in other countries except Russia.

Frands against insurance companies are difficult to detect even when the insured fires his own property; but when the work is done by a professional fire-raiser detection becomes almost impossible. —Pall Mall Gazette.

She—"Why, Mrs. Windsor's." —Life.

Combines, in a manner peculiar to itself, the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. You will find this wonderful remedy effective where other medicines have failed. Try it now. It will purify your blood, regulate the digestion, and give new life and vigor to the entire body. "Hood's Sarsaparilla did me great good. I was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." Mrs. G. E. STIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y. "I suffered three years from blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and think I am cured." Mrs. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion of the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence. "Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and gives me new life." J. T. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass. "Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." J. BARRETT, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

THE CITY.

S. T. Cast and lady, of Huntington, are at the Avenue house.

Henry P. Canwood and Annetta Diller have been licensed to marry.

The country roads are breaking up. The gravel roads alone are solid.

Flowers are again in favor on ball dresses. At least so says The Season for March.

Hawksworth shows up pretty well today, although his right "duke" is in the hospital.

Capt. Hugh M. Ditch has a picture of the St. Paul ice palace hung up in the police station.

For gentlemen's use, pongee and linen lawn handkerchiefs have entirely superseded those of silk.

Col. D. N. Foster has permitted Veederburg post, C. A. R., to assume the name of Hancock post, G. A. R.

The "Shadows of a Great City" tonight. The recent dramatic republican convention should be on the canvas.

The delegates to the Twelfth district republican convention meet to-morrow to select a member of the state committee.

Mary F. Joley has applied for a divorce from O. L. G. Joley, alleging cruel treatment. W. G. Colerick represents Mrs. Joley.

Bishop Knickerbacker and others of Indianapolis have petitioned congress for a reduction of postage on religious monthly papers.

Hawksworth is an old "Nickel Plate" man and this accounts for the color in his eye. He has not been matched to meet Jim Fall.

Orders were received at Andrews to clean the walls of the Wabash depot of all maps, pictures, and advertising matter immediately.

Commander Boltz has called a meeting of St. Basil for 1 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, to attend the funeral of their late comrade, W. H. Bailey.

Rudolph Work was offered $2,000 a year to take charge of the gas works at Dallas, Tex. He has decided to remain with the Fort Wayne Gas company.

The new insurance company inaugurated by the Pennsylvania Railroad company has killed the Mutual Benefit association, built up by the employees.

On the 19th inst., the Knights of Pythias will celebrate the 22d anniversary of the establishment of this order, and the event will be observed in Fort Wayne.

The new Wabash passenger and freight office in the Bates house at Indianapolis, is completed and the agents have moved in. The new quarters are convenient and commodious.

Frozen oranges from Florida are now selling everywhere, our exchanges say, and they add that physicians say that such oranges are poisonous, and that purchasers should be duly warned.

Messrs. Schnelker, Mitterdorf and Franger have been given the contract for the sum of $75 to tear down the St. Mary's Catholic church parsonal residence occupied by Rev. Father Ochtering.

The Wabash is calling all empty box-cars west. It is hard to tell the meaning of this, as everything will be uncertainty until the road is sold, which occurs on the 24th of April. This, however, looks like an increase of business.

The horse belonging to Rev. E. G. Brown, pastor of the Wayne street M. E. church, strayed away last night while the pastor was at the Third street M. E. social. Dennis O'Brien and Officer Singleton recovered the steed.

"On next Monday the Halinger Brothers will open up in the room lately occupied by Crain Brothers' drug store with a new stock of ready-made clothing. The Courier wishes the new firm abundant success," says the Lafayette Courier.

John Dentlebeek, Anthony Kemp and Abraham Cennington have been ordered home from the state insane asylum as incurable, and the officers will have to confine them in the county infirmary here. County Clerk Maier received the notice of removal this morning.

Probably the largest single pension payment ever made in Indiana was that given yesterday by Colonel Zollinger to Ferdinand Black, of Etua Green, Kosciusko county, who received $10,763, for total disability, i. e., blindness, caused by measles contracted in the service in 1863. He has been all this time establishing his claim.

Billy Batts, the pugilist, left for Bay City last evening, and does not carry many marks of the fight with him. He hasn't been well for some time, in fact he is crippled with rheumatism, and his friends think him foolish for watching himself against a man like Hawksworth. It was his intention to leave for Hot Springs, had he won this match, but as his finances now stand, he will have to defer his trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Nirdlinger are at Washington.

Mrs. Gust Rabus is entertaining her friend, Mrs. Reed, of Toledo.

Ralph Strub, representing the Buckeye brewery, Toledo, is in the city.

The Y. P. A. F. C. will hold a business meeting at the Westminster Friday evening.

Judge S. M. Hanch and City Attorney Colerick went to Indianapolis this morning.

The water works trustees say they will complete the Seventh ward reservoir in the spring.

The Jenney Electric Light company is going to introduce the incandescent electric lights here.

Services continue at the Second Presbyterian church, by Dr. Paynter, and much good is being done.

The Wright-Pope patent case is still on the boards in the superior court, before Judge Brackenridge.

The case of the Nickel Plate road vs. Henry Derkes, of Adams county, has been transferred here for trial.

Gentlemen's visiting cards are growing smaller, while those for ladies increase in size and are almost square.

Weighmaster Ryan collected last week $41, and yesterday he received the sum of $10.80 for the use of the city scales.

Patrick Culline has sued Henry J. Trentman et al, on note for $400. Mr. P. B. Colerick is counsel for Mr. Culline.

Messrs. Zollars & Merz, the grocers, will next spring erect a fine two-story brick store, to cost $4,000, on South Calhoun street.

Charles F. Pfeiffer has sued Adam and Almira Marquardt on a mortgage for $700. Randall & Vesey are attorneys for the claimant.

The sale of property delinquent for taxes is closed. There were but few purchasers, and those mainly were to protect former claims.

"Mrs. Julius Pottlitzer goes to Fort Wayne to-morrow, to join her husband, who is running a branch fruit store there," says the Lafayette Courier.

Doc. Morning, the well-known mail agent, received a cut on the head in the accident on the Wabash, at Ivesdale, on Monday morning, but not of a serious nature.

There was a wreck on the Pittsburg last night. "A double header" coming from the west, and when near the junction just west of the city, broke in two and then came crashing together, smashing several cars.

Mrs. Woodworth, the trance evangelist, closed her meetings at Cleveland last Friday evening, where she made three hundred converts. She goes from there to Butler county, Pa., and will hardly come to Fort Wayne.

A teacher observed a huge blot of ink on a little Irish boy's copy-book. "What is that?" he demanded. "Sure, I think it's a tear, sir." "A tear! How could a tear be black?" "Sure, I think one of the colored boys dropped it, sir."

The outstanding county orders have all been redeemed and the county does not owe a cent over the $200,000 bonded debt. During January Treasurer Dalman redeemed $229,577.75. The interest was $13,175.10 and the total was $242,752.87. The footings for February are not yet made.

The official terms of Esquires Ryan, Frances and Hays and Constables McCann, Kelly and Robbins, expire in April and it is understood that all the gentlemen will again seek the places they hold. Of course trustees, as assessors, road supervisors and peace officers will have to be chosen in every township in the county in April.

"John Cannon has opened a butcher shop at 130 Broadway, in Fort Wayne. Mr. Cannon buys all his beef in this vicinity, and then ships it to Fort Wayne for sale in that city. Charley Bane has charge of the Fort Wayne department, while Lane Beauchamp runs the shop in this city," says an Andrews correspondent of the Huntington Herald.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad company expect by to-day to have their burned car-works at Grand Rapids in full blast again. The repair shops and two or three stalls of the round-house will be used for the purpose for which the paint and coach shops were used. The shops will be built in the early spring, but it is not yet determined whether they will be constructed of brick or wood.

One evening during the performance of "The Shadows of a Great City" at Niblo's Garden, New York, a scene not shown on the bills took place. As is well known, a baby is used in the play, and in the second act, while a struggle is taking place on the rocks at Hell Gate, it is thrown into the water by one of the actors. It seems that the society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children had determined to stop the use of the child in the play, and one of these agents had gained admission to the stage in order to secure the child and arrest the actor and manager. Mr. Charles Jefferson had, however, been informed of his intentions and substituted a dummy and the pitying officer stayed the flight of a bundle of straw.

Mr. Gust Rabus, the merchant tailor, was to-day at Elkhart on business.

H. Poyser, foreman of the Wabash carpenter shop, went to Toledo this morning.

S. K. Randall and Solomon Baum, two politicians of Avila, were in the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Luce Stapleford have settled their domestic troubles and are living together.

There will be a special meeting of the Fort Wayne Rifles this evening, at 7:30, at Grand Army hall.

Work was resumed on the government building to-day. This weather permits out door work.

George W. Maxwell sued James B. Shoaff for $300. P. B. Colerick filed the papers for Mr. Maxwell.

Captain Bradley to-day took possession of the old Mayer house and has styled it the "Grand Central Hotel."

Miss Annie, the little daughter of Wabash Freight Agent Newton, has had a relapse and is again dangerously sick.

J. P. Walters, the Gooseville junk-dealer whose name has been in the courts, died this morning at his home on Bass street.

The large Siberian blood hound used in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is said to be the largest specimen of that species in the country.

Captain Smith, of Kendallville, took charge of the postoffice of that city on first of this month and appointed a democratic deputy the same day.

It would be well if the readers of The Sentinel would attend one of the many gospel meetings now being held by the different churches of our city.

Mr. Joseph Rosnwald, a successful German journalist of St. Louis, has taken the position of editor of Mr. K. J. Bauer's German Catholic weekly, Der Weltbürger.

The "Shadows of a Great City" party arrived this afternoon from Dayton. The people are distributed between the Avenue, Robinson and Windsor hotels.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Fair weather, followed by local rains; stationary temperature in the west, and slight rise in the east.

Fort Wayne passenger men report a handsome increase in travel with the coming of milder weather. There are numerous inquiries for rates to northwestern points. The tide of immigration seems to be turning this year to Dakota and Iowa.

Rev. H. M. Paynter will preach to-night at the Second Presbyterian church, on the "Prayers of Jesus." Bible reading at 2:30 to-morrow, on "Helps to Christian Workers." You are invited to all these services.

Mail Agent Hays, of the Muncie road, came in from Cincinnati last evening. He says the people there are thoroughly in earnest in the great Christian work of reform, and tells us that Rev. Sam. Jones is doing wonders for God's cause. The theaters were all closed last Sunday, by the Law and Order League, and the mayor has put a stop to lottery business.

Aurilla Kigney, an insane woman, came here from Kalamazoo last evening, and was at the south depot last night. She went to the north side depot this morning, and there began tearing her clothes from her person. She was taken to jail, and as she had $33 in cash with her, Sheriff Nelson will send her home to-morrow.

Steel axles, for locomotives, cannot be written or argued out of use, in view of the experiments made by the Pennsylvania company. In a club discussion in Boston, Mass., the other day, Mr. Lauder observed that while the majority of those present considered steel an unsuitable material for axles, the Pennsylvania railroad, with its exports, skilled in making tests of every kind and description, after years of care, research and observation, and with a multitude of facts and figures at their disposal, had recently placed a contract for a large lot of steel axles.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" was well attended at the Academy last evening, while quite a large number of people were at the matinee this afternoon. The company continues to please—at least the audience do. Hence to roar whenever any of the comedy parts are on. Miss Kate Davidson is certainly the best Aunt Ophelia we have ever seen, while the two Marks, of Messrs. Davidson and Martin, and the Tojays of Miss Robinson, are at times excruciatingly funny. The transformation scenes seem to develop more beauties each time. Matinees Friday and Saturday afternoons.

Willis Bash, Will H. Fleming, Howell C. Rockhill, W. W. Worthington and W. L. Carnahan have been attending the great sale of thoroughbred horses at Col. R. G. Stone's stock farm, near Paris, Ky. Mr. Carnahan went down to purchase a pair of carriage horses, while Messrs. Bash, Fleming and Rockhill have purchased the famous stallion "Strathmore" and will keep him on the Rockhill farm west of the city. "Strathmore" has seventeen horses of his kin, trotting in the 2:30 class. The party returned home this evening and it is understood that four horses are following them.

THE CHICKEN SHOW.

Poultry Show Opens for Public Inspection.

A person who travels in the vicinity of Col. Shuman's hall, on East Main street, can scarcely fail to realize that there is a poultry show in full blast. This is the first day of the great Northern Indiana exhibition of feathered fowls and already Secretary Gordon has booked 361 entries, with possibly 200 more to hear from. The boxes are all arranged and to-night the fancy birds can be seen to fine advantage. The show concludes next Wednesday, just one week from to-day. The entries of Fort Wayne fanciers are as follows: Geo. P. Gordon, 44 coops; Elmer Banks, 2 coops; Rockhill Brothers, 10 coops; W. A. Kelsey, 2 pair bronze turkeys; H. Newell, 13 coops; John H. Christian, Roanoke, 10 coops; Daniel Christian, Roanoke, 25 coops; Frank Bosker, 6 coops; F. C. Cook, 6 coops; H. B. Shamp, 16 coops; Z. Hopkins, 2 coops; Charles Schilling, 8 coops; J. H. Welch, 6 coops; Thomas McNeirney, 2 coops. The others come from all parts of Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, and altogether this is one of the choicest collections of the feathered family ever gazed on.

A NEW COP.

Ferdinand Meyer Succeeds Officer Pete Owens on the Police Force.

Officer Pete Owens, "one of the finest" and most popular policeman that ever served the city of Fort Wayne, resigned last night to engage in business for himself. He is now in charge and has purchased Pete Tonnelier's house of call on West Columbia street. Mr. Owens will fit the place up after the 1st of March, when Tonnelier's license expires, and conduct the place in an orderly, law-abiding way. Mayor Muhler, Wm. Doehman, Chris. Kramer, Peter Scheid and Geo. W. Ely, the police commission, met this morning and appointed Ferdinand Myers, of the fourth ward, over a half-dozen good men, to the vacant place on the police force. Mr. Myers was once dismissed from the force for sleeping on duty, but promises to do better now. He filed his bond for $1,000, with his brother, Fred Myers, as surety.

THE OLD DITCH.

Another Lawsuit Involving the Ownership of the Old Wabash and Erie Canal Bed.

H. E. Shirk, of Peru, has brought suit in the circuit court at Logansport, says a telegram, against Keopert & Co., line manufacturers, east of that city, charging them with trespass. The suit involves the settlement of the long-disputed question as to whether the company that bid in the old Wabash and Erie canal bed have a clear title to the same. In getting out stone for his kiln Keopert went across the canal bed to a considerable extent. The farmers owning land along the canal claim that where the bed was abandoned for the purposes for which it was originally used by the Wabash and Erie company, it reverted to those property owners whose land laid immediately along the canal. The decision of the court in the case will be watched with considerable interest, as the entire canal bed, from Fort Wayne to Lafayette, was purchased by the company of which E. H. Shirk is chief.

Baptist Revival Services.
The wonderful work of grace at the Baptist church, under the leadership of Pastor Northrop, continues with surprising results. Last night the lecture room was filled with attentive listeners and anxious seekers for a better life. About thirty new inquirers manifested a sincere desire to find the pearl of great price. Many railroad men and their wives, mechanics and their families, clerks and business men are carefully considering the greatest of all living questions: Ought not I to become a Christian now? Strong men are bowing under conviction of sin and crying, "What shall I do to be saved?" The good work will continue for weeks. Service to-night. Come and welcome, and invite your friends.

Real Estate Transfers.
Olds Bros., real estate agents, room No. 8, Foster block, report the following recorded real estate transfers:
Sarah Lynch to Hiram J. Simonton, by quit-cum deed, lot 10, Brackenridge addition, for $250.
Franz P. Knibisch to Andrew Lippe, by warranty deed, lot 16, Beck's subdivision of Ewing's lot 9.

Two charming little girls were dancing "the raket" in the streets. "What makes you so happy?" a gentleman asked. "Oh! our ma's have thrown away all our horrid medicine, and we have only to take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and that isn't bad at all."
John Landenberger and his sister, Miss Sophie, gave a reception to their young friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. M. Storm, last evening. The occasion was exceedingly pleasant.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

A Rather Dull Session--Monthly Reports.

The common council of the city of Fort Wayne met in the council chamber Tuesday evening, Feb. 9, A. D., 1886, in regular session His Honor Mayor Muhler in the chair, and present the following members, viz: Councilmen Doehman, Ely, Gaska, Kanel, Kramer, Michael, Mohr, Prentiss, Racine, Scheid, Schwartz, Tresselt, Wessell and Wolfe—11. Absent—Councilmen Kelker, Lincoln, Reed, and Storm—4.
The minutes of the last regular session having been delivered to the usual members on motion approved as published.

The bill of the Central Union Telephone company, amounting to $78, was referred to the committee on finance with power to act.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.
1. We have examined the reports of the clerk and treasurer for December, the weighmaster's report for November and December and the report of Chief Engineer. All reports concerning returns for land engine and hose sold to Convey, all of which are correct according to the books.
2. We have checked and destroyed orders, bonds and coupons amounting to $12,291.20 and have received to the clerk for the same.
3. We are pleased to report that the city scales amount to the last of January showed a surplus of $20.84 over their cost and the salary of the weighmaster to the date.
Geo. W. Ely, | Com.
JOHN MOHR, Jr., | Com.

CONCURRED IN.
REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.
1. We have awarded the contract to build the one-horse wagon to Lauer & Hartman for the sum of $28.
2. Advise the bid of Mr. Westrum for funeral caskets to the city with advantage. We find said bid is entirely too high, and therefore recommend that the committee on fire be instructed to purchase said bid for the lot for the present.
W. DOEHMAN, | Com.
PETER J. SCHEID, | Com.

CONCURRED IN.
REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.
1. Your special committee reports in favor of settling the claim of Jacob Troutner on account of alleged illegal collection of taxes at the rate of seventy cents on the dollar.
2. We recommend that the petition of Wm. E. Miner be not granted.
Geo. W. Ely, | Com. on Finance.

In the Dear Old Days.
We differ in creed and politics, but we are a unit all the same on the desirableness of a fine head of hair. If you mourn the loss of this blessing and ornament, a bottle or two of Parker's Hair Balsam will make you look as you did in the dear old days. It is worth trying. It is the only standard 50c article for the hair.
